Dispatch Plays Key Role in Public Safety

Dispatch is the critical link between the community and our police patrol and fire units. When a 911 call is placed, it is handled by highly trained individuals at the dispatch center who gather necessary information and then communicate to Sandy City fire and/or police, who then respond accordingly.

Our dispatch communications center, located in the new Salt Lake City Public Safety Building at 475 S. 300 East, is staffed 24 hours a day, 365 day a year to handle emergency 911 calls. Calls for service can range from in-progress crimes such as burglary or an assault to non-emergency calls, such as past thefts or disturbance calls.

Dispatch communications may also be responsible for dispatching patrol units for specialized needs such as Neighborhood Watch, Community Response Team, Police Explorer Program, Volunteers In Policing (VIPS), Youth Court, Narcotics Team and Citizen's Academy.

Additionally, dispatch communications may employ Sandy Fire specialties including hazardous material responses such as decontamination. Heavy rescue units may respond for vehicle extrications, trench rescues, confined-space rescue, canyon rescues, and high or low angle rescues. There is a special taskforce trained in wildland interface responses such as grass fires, forest fires and any other wildfire. Sandy Fire is also part of six other city fire department that make up the Metro Fire Department allowing additional resources and combined manpower for Urban Search and Rescue teams as needed.

The Salt Lake Public Safety Building is a state-of-the art facility that can withstand a 7.5 magnitude earthquake while remaining functioning.
